Kirk Holmes requested approval for out of town training. He indicated that the Emergency Management Institute, in Emmitsburg Maryland, HAZUS-MH is FEMA's risk assessment and loss estimation tool that helps States, communities and businesses prepare for, mitigate the effects of, respond to, and recover from a hazard event. He explained that he would like to send Christina Wollman, Planner II, who is also their acting Flood Manager. He indicated that she has the flood software license on her computer and this would allow her to do all the hazard mitigation training in-house. He noted that the training is completely reimbursable by FEMA with the exception of her wages.

The Board approved the request.
